FOREWORD

The exhibition resulting from this year's competition contains, besides the work of established painters, a considerable number of paintings by younger artists whose ability and seriousness of purpose should result in the further strengthening of American Art.

Pepsi-Cola Company is happy to give recognition and encouragement to these youthful artists through its annual art project as well as serve those painters who are also well known.

This year, in addition to the twenty cash awards totaling $15,250. and the continuance of the fellowships in painting of $1500. each, one to each region, the Company has purchased outright from the exhibition eleven paintings valued at $14,700. for reproduction in full color on its 1948 calendar.

The Company is also pleased to announce the first presentation in this exhibition of the Pepsi-Cola Achievement Award Medal, designed by the noted sculptor, William Zorach, to ten artists whose work was adjudged the next best in the exhibition by the Jury of Awards.

The substantial nature of the awards and purchases made by the Company this year and the distribution throughout the country of approximately 650,000 calendars containing reproductions in color of selected paintings from the exhibition will we trust add further recognition to the growing interest in American art.
